

Ideal for total health systems support

Health systems training services

Ideal is the UK's leading health systems and health informatics training company. We have successfully assisted many healthcare organisations to prepare staff for managing, running and using health systems.

Complete training service

Ideal provides a high quality and cost effective means of delivering health systems training.

Our training services encompass:

- Health systems trainers
- Health informatics training
- Managed training solutions
- Care Information Systems

Health systems trainers

We have a dedicated and professional team of experienced health systems trainers who can be called on as and when required, to work alongside your own trainers.

Our trainers have experience in a wide range of systems including Cerner, iSoft, RiO, TPP and PACS.

Accredited training

We are accredited by CfH, BT and the IITT and have delivered health systems training to many Trusts throughout the UK.

Health informatics training

Ideal provides flexible health informatics training services to healthcare organisations to encourage the development of skills for all staff involved in managing, planning, implementing and operating health systems.

Our training is designed to build long term internal capability, whilst also supporting the immediate goals and targets of organisations.

Managed training solutions

Ideal provides a range of training services to support Trusts with all their training activities. These include:

- Skills gap analysis
- Training needs analysis
- Training project management
- Training management
- Training administration

We offer clients the flexibility to select specific aspects of our training services, or a complete managed training solution.

Care Information Systems

The Care Information Systems User Competencies and Qualifications (CIS UCQ) framework is the first vocational, competency based, health informatics learning programme. It has been developed to support the NHS to achieve the benefits of IT enabled change by equipping the workforce with the knowledge and skills appropriate to their roles.

"Ideal has an excellent reputation as a top class training provider working exclusively in the health sector. With their experience and demonstrable track record in delivering IT training solutions to NHS organisations, Ideal was the clear choice for BT and Connecting for Health"
