

Health systems trainers

Ideal provides a high quality and cost effective means of delivering health systems training to NHS Trusts and private hospitals through our nationwide team of health systems trainers.

Ideal is committed to partnering with NHS Trusts in support of the training required for the successful implementation of Care Records, Primary Care systems and PACS in health communities throughout the country.

Some of the systems we provide training in include Cerner, iSoft, RiO, PACS and many more.

As the UK's leading health systems service company, Ideal is uniquely placed to support health systems training programmes.

Experienced trainers

By concentrating exclusively on the healthcare market, we have built up a reliable pool of talented trainers with in-depth health systems knowledge and experience.

All our trainers are selected through a rigorous vetting process. They are inducted, managed and monitored by our training managers and are regularly assessed in line with IITT best practice, to ensure our high training standards are maintained.

Our trainers hold a TAP or equivalent training qualification and follow a programme of continuous professional development.

Our health systems trainers can also assist with floor walking and course localisation.

Cost effective training

Our proactive and flexible approach helps to reduce the cost of training programmes. Clients only pay when training is required, regardless of delays to roll-outs and avoid the costly expense of recruiting, training, employing and managing a large team of in-house trainers.

Accredited training

Ideal is accredited by the Institute of IT Training and by the NHS Connecting for Health to provide health systems training. We have been selected as part of the London Programme for IT and are accredited by the Southern Programme for IT under the TPAS scheme.

“Ideal has an excellent reputation as a top class training provider working exclusively in the health sector. With their experience and demonstrable track record in delivering IT training solutions to NHS organisations, Ideal was the clear choice for BT and Connecting for Health” Jenny Craggs, Training Lead for NHS Connecting for Health.
